Golden Lady, One Of World's Most Educated Horses, Dies Here At Owner's Home

Golden Lady, one of the most educated horses in the world and a true champion among her breed, is dead.

The famous filly died Tuesday morning of lock jaw at the age of eight.

Golden Lady was owned, trained and showed by Bill Lizana, the well known horseman and sportsman of Bay St. Louis, who devoted five years of his life schooling and caring for the beautiful coated Palomino.

Lizana and his horse traveled thousands of miles around the country entertaining young and old alike.

His horse knew all the tricks and some that no other horse in the world could do. Golden Lady was known from coast to coast by television, night club, rodeo and parade audiences as the "educated horse."

Her tricks brought the applause of all who witnessed her in action.

In her repertoire were such tricks as the picking of any number on a board named by a member of the audience standing on her head and lifting her hind legs, pushing a baby chariot around by her mouth, untying any knot that the audience would tie on her owner and many many more that kept people dumbfounded and awestruck on the edge of their chairs.

The association between horse and owner was unbelievable.

"She was the closest thing to a human brain of any animal I have ever seen," said Bill Lizana.

"You could teach her anything. She would learn quick and would never forget how to do a trick."

The team of Golden Lady and Lizana was brought together five years ago in a Texas town, when a wealthy friend of the local sportsman gave the Lady to Bill as a birthday present. And from then on they were inseparable.

Golden Lady loved Bill and he in turn loved her. Each morning when Golden Lady heard her master rise from his bed and heard his feet touch the floor she would start calling for him in her own way, and Bill would answer her call by immediately going to her side.

Even while she lay on the ground in her last hours Golden Lady called for her short, stocky owner in the wee hours of the morning, and he did everything humanly possible to save her life.

A great amount of drugs were administered to the horse in an effort to cure the sickness, but medicine couldn't do any good.

With tears in his eyes Bill Lizana spoke of Golden Lady. He told of her accomplishments and how he had refused a large amount of money for her just a couple of weeks ago.

"I couldn't sell her for any amount of money. She was like one of the family. Golden Lady will be the last horse I will ever train."

The horse's fame and popularity among the kids and grownups alike was told quite aptly in a poem written by Miss Celine Ashcraft, a local school teacher.

All Dogs Have To Be Kept Off The Streets

The Commission Council of the City of Bay St. Louis announced today that all owners of dogs should keep their animals from roaming the streets in the future.

The council stated according to City Ordinance 128, "all dogs, whether they have a vaccination tag or not are not allowed to roam the city streets."

Examination Of Ballot Boxes In Sheriff's Race Is Finished

The examination of the ballot boxes in the Sheriff's race is finished.

At least it was stopped by defeated candidate Gerald Price, after he and his associates examined 18 of the county's 25 boxes.

Price, who was defeated in the August 23 second primary, by 221 votes, received permission to enter the boxes after Circuit Judge Leslie Grant ordered Clerk of Courts A. C. Mitchell to open the boxes.

Prior to this action Mitchell ruled that he couldn't open the boxes for examination because Price had failed to give elected candidate Sylvan Ladner the proper three day notice and Ladner would not waive this service.

While examining the boxes the parties involved also had a recount. The final results of this showed Ladner with the same amount of votes reported by the election managers in the primary and Price with four less than reported.

Of the 18 boxes entered Ladner carried 16 precincts, while Price carried two. Of those not entered Price carried all seven.

Price and his attorney Ed Lindsey of Gulfport asked to examine the boxes on the grounds that they believed that irregularities and fraud took place in the election.

Last week Price said that he could not reveal what they had found in the boxes, but that the next move would be left to his attorney.

Ladner's attorney, Joel Blass of Wiggins stated that he felt "Price and his associates were fishing."

"They don't know what they are hunting for, but are just fishing hoping to find something."

He stated that he had been in seven counties since the election on similar cases and believed that the election in Hancock County was conducted better than any of the other counties.

"I have not found anything wrong," he said.

Since the examination of boxes was discontinued Price has not announced whether he will carry the case any further.

Necaise - Lott Election Case To Be Heard On October 11

The Lander Necaise and Jack Lott election trial has been set for October 11 before Pearl River Judge Seba Dale.

Necaise, the defeated candidate in the recently held Supervisor's race in Beat 4, contends that there was fraud in the election and because of these irregularities there should be another election held.

He was defeated by the incumbent Lott by 50 odd votes in the August 23 second Democratic Primary.

Necaise and his attorney examined the boxes of Beat 4 several weeks ago after filing a petition asking for permission to enter the ballot boxes claiming that he believed that fraud and irregularities existed in the election.

Judge Dale was appointed by the Supreme Court to hear the case.

South's Best Flower Show To Be Held Oct. 17

A flower show with a "novel" twist scheduled at the Pascagoula Interstate Fair opening for a week on October 17 is attracting international attention.

Using as its general theme, "Flowers and Books for Fall," the show will give prizes for floral arrangements based on titles of books, mostly current best-sellers except for a few old classics.

It has attracted attention of some 45 authors who live in various parts of the earth, and who have been invited to attend. Likewise, the interest of 31 publishing firms has been aroused, and some of them are arranging to get pictures of winning displays for possible use in advertising the book used as the theme.

Perhaps the flower show can best be explained by using a Florida author and her work as an example. The author, Margaret Bell Houston, resides in (4509 Emerson Ave. N.) St. Petersburg, and her book is entitled "Yonder." Entrants who wish to compete under this theme are instructed: "You are a photographer for a travel magazine; set up a composition for its cover."

Thus a garden clubber has an idea to go on—and so will the 90-odd judges who will pass on the two conservative shows during the fair.

Both authors and publishers whose books have been selected as themes have failed the idea of flower show, and publishers are ordering photographs for private publicity purposes, etc. and Ted Malone will devote a part of one of his ABC net work programs to the fair and a book, "Under One Roof," by Emma Wilson of Birmingham, Ala., will be featured in a radio program on the fair.

The Gulf Coast commuter bus will be continued for an indefinite period, according to P. S. Hennessey, district sales manager of the Greyhound Bus Company, in a letter to Mayor John Scaife.

In his letter to the Mayor Hennessey said, "In response to your telephone conversation while I was in Covington this is to advise that the operation of the Gulf Coast commuter bus will be continued indefinitely if same is patronized the same as it has been for the past two months."

"We trust that with everybody's cooperation to help build up this schedule we will have no difficulty continuing same."

Bay-Waveland Garden Club To Start Litter Bug Clean-Up Campaign

Dealing in terms of 100 is getting to be a habit with members of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club. They contributed $100 to the National Foundation of Garden Clubs, this spring toward a National Center; they planted or were responsible for the planting of 100 oleander trees on Highway 90 for beautification; and now they are back in harness with a project that will begin with the procurement and placing of 100 cans for trash disposals in a long term campaign to clean up the community.

The project is a part of the National Garden Clubs of America in the Litter Bug Clean-Up campaign. This campaign started several months ago, when the slogan, "Don't Be A Litter Bug" was adopted by the National Clubs. Posters and auto stickers were distributed throughout the entire country. Gradually the people became conscious of the litter that is usually strewn about our city streets or highways, resulting in unsightly conditions. In many of the larger cities and along highways all over the country, disposal cans to place trash have alleviated the condition to a great degree.

The local garden club has been behind the project, but are determined to really swing into it this year. They hope by placing the cans in Waveland and Bay St. Louis, that the people of these communities will become conscious of them and use them. The cans will be stenciled with the name Litter Bug on each. Persons desirous of disposing of trash will be requested to make free use of them.

Mrs. Welda Otis, president of the club, has written to New Orleans for advice and information on the waging of this campaign, as that city has wholeheartedly endorsed and is practicing the habit of using these cans which are placed throughout the entire city.

Another habit that is being practiced in the schools today is for the children who carry lunch, they are instructed to either place their papers and bags, when finished eating, into cans on the school yards, or else replace them into their lunch kits and dispose of them in the family garbage containers.

Mrs. Otis said that she plans to take the campaign before the sanitation department of both the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, and their assistance in the emptying of the cans once they are placed by the Garden Club.

This light was erected by the Commission Council of the City of Bay St. Louis.

Fifty members of the immediate family attended.

Several "Nationally known heart specialists" will speak here Tuesday night on a one hour forum, concerning facts about your heart.

Week in and week out, year in after year, vital statistics prove that diseases of the heart and blood vessels cause over half of all deaths in the United States. In Mississippi, in Hancock County.

What is being done to improve that, grim picture will be told Tuesday when four physicians present a free one-hour forum on Heart Facts in Bay St. Louis.

Sponsored by Hancock County Chapter of the Mississippi Heart Association, the free forum is to be held at Bay High, beginning at 8:00 p. m.

Mrs. C. R. Beyer and Mrs. Joseph Kern local heart association chairmen, stress that there is no admission charge.

Dr. Clifford Tillman of Natchez will spearhead the panel discussion which will put emphasis on rheumatic heart disease, the great child crippler, and one ailment which can be prevented.

Drs. George Twente and Joseph P. Melvin, Jr., of Jackson and Wesley Lake of Pass Christian will complete the panel.

They'll explain some of the recent medical advances which help combat heart disease. They'll tell about new drugs which lower blood pressure to help the hypertensive patient. They'll discuss new techniques for diagnosing and treating blood clots, report dramatic improvement in surgery which allow surgeons to operate right inside the beating heart. They will outline what can be done for the child who is born with a faulty heart.

Of great interest to the person who wants to protect his own heart, or the parent who wants to care for a child, these four physicians will explain nature's warning signals which indicate there's trouble brewing in the heart.

They'll help each mother learn to recognize the signs and symptoms of rheumatic fever, which has damaged the hearts of a half million American children, but which can be prevented.

This lifeline of information will be yours for the taking on Tuesday, at the free forum sponsored by the Hancock County Chapter.

Bay High Defeats Lumberton 7-6; Stanislaus Loses To Moss Point 7-0

Monti Scores Lone Tiger Tally; Meet Perkinston Here Friday Night

The St. Stanislaus Rockchaws knocked at the door 8 times, but couldn't score as they fell in defeat to the Moss Point Tigers, 7-0.

It was strictly a game of lines. The strong forward walls had the crowd gasping all night long, as both sides hit hard and fast.

Moss Point scored on a sustained drive and finally plunged over through the line. This happened the second time, the Tigers had possession of the line in the first quarter. From then on it was a scoreless ball game.

Stanislaus came close and on one occasion scored, only to have it called back for a backfield in motion penalty.

There was a great deal of controversy surrounding this game. Twice two of the officials called a touchdown for Stanislaus but were overruled by the umpire, who has the final say in these matters.

Billy Rhodes played through the line once and the umpire said he was stopped on the one inch line, and then Kenny Ardugas, on a quarterback sneak hurdled the center of the line, and the umpire said he was stopped on the six inch line.

When the game ended Stanislaus was situated on the Moss Point six inch line.

Coach Farley Day said, "We believe our boys played their best game of the season against Moss Point. Our defense was better in both the line and backfield. We looked a little sluggish the first half but in the second half the boys played good ball. We controlled the ball for most of the last two quarters. We just didn't score."

"Moss Point had the best line and the best defensive team that we have met this year."

Mitchell De Cuir, who has been injured and has been sidelined for two games, was back in the lineup against Moss Point. He played only defensive ball and helped the Rockchaws from his line-backing position.

Tomorrow night Stanislaus meets its old rival from Pearl River County, Picaune Memorial High School.

Coach Day is expecting to have a tough game.

He said, "Picaune as always has a mighty tough team. It is a typical Picaune team. We have been working on our pass defense because Picaune has a very fine passer in its quarterback and we have been stressing our line work in order to stop Picaune's fast backs."

The Rockchaws will travel to Picaune to play the Maroon Tide.

Star Of The Week

In the closest selection of the year Henry Monti, the young, aggressive, fast and hard running halfback from Bay High was chosen as the Sea Coast Echo Star of the Week.

Henry edged two linemen for this week's honor. One was teammate and Fred De Han and the other was Stanislaus' tackle Leon Frazzino.

Monti scored the only Tiger touchdown in its 7 to 6 victory over Lumberton Friday night. He scooted through the line for seven yards for the score.

Monti was the leading ground gainer for Bay High in this, its first De Soto Conference win and sparked the Tiger fans with a beautiful, plowing 35 yard run to put Bay High in scoring territory.

From his linebacking spot Monti was one of the stoutest defensive men on the field. At times he became over anxious and clashed through the line but for the better part of the night he got his share of tackles.

Henry, in his third year of football, is a junior at the local school.

He is also a member of the basketball team, the track team. In football he is a shifty broken field runner and also has the power to move directly over a would be tackler if the situation calls for it.

He is always a threat to the opposition and can break away for the long run that can break a team's back anytime he gets his hands in the pigskin. Henry is a modest boy and one who will always praise his fellow players and make his accomplishments look small.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Monti of Hancock Street.

Fishing camps on Bayou Bogus Homa, at Logtown are being built with regularity. Among the owners of the camps are Ralph Alford of Bogalusa and A. B. Welch of Columbia, Miss.

Mr. and Mrs. Alford spend almost each weekend on the bayou fishing and entertaining friends. They are swell hostesses.

Sorry to hear of the death last week of Mac Badon of McComb, Miss., former Bay St. Louis resident, who was killed in an auto accident.

Mac was a good golfer and recently played here with his friends.

The Bay High Tigers gained their initial De Soto Conference victory against the Lumberton Wolves in their first home game, 7 to 6.

The Tigers, much the better team on paper, didn't look it for the greater part of the game. The line looked sluggish and weary and the backfield looked tired.

On the other hand the Lumberton crew was hustling and outpunching Bay High on almost every play.

The Wolves scored first and held a touchdown lead almost two quarters.

With the Tigers in scoring territory, thanks to a beautiful twisting run, Henry Monti, there was a fumble and an alert Lumberton man scooped the ball up behind the line of scrimmage and raced over 70 yards for the first T. D. of the game.

The extra point, which proved to be the deciding factor, was missed.

After this point the two teams battled back and forth, exchanging the ball by punts, intercepted passes and fumbles.

But then something happened. The Tigers got a little spark.

The holes in the line started opening and the backs started moving across the line of scrimmage into the secondary.

Five yards, ten yards, were being chalked up as the Tigers moved downfield.

And finally from the seven yard line, Henry Monti, the break away found an opening and crossed over into the end zone for the score.

Grady Perkins the Tiger Quarterback decided to run the extra point rather than with a kick. His strategy paid off as Tommy Holden plunged off his own right tackle to chalk up the winning point in the tight ball game.

Coach Lance Lumpkin was not too pleased with his boys' showing against Lumberton.

He said, "We played good ball only in spots. The boys didn't play their normal game. We just didn't have that offensive punch. The line wasn't opening the holes for our three big boys in the backfield, Monti, Holden and Favre. They had to make their own openings."

Tomorrow night Bay High meets Perkinston A. H. S. in its second home game of the season at the St. Stanislaus Stadium.

"Perkinston has a good ball club," Coach Lumpkin said.

If our boys play like I know they can then we should give them a good game, but if we play like we did against Lumberton then it will be "Katy bar the door."

Bob Hamilton met with an unusual accident Sunday afternoon, while playing golf with Leo Seal, Jr. A ball he shot hit a tree and bounced back, striking him on the nose. The nose was not broken, but was badly bent, said Bob.

FLETCHER OPENS NEW FIELD OF ENDEAVOR IN HANCOCK COUNTY

A short, stocky man, with the courage of his convictions holds the future of a new agricultural field in Hancock County in his rough worker's hands.

This man, Luther F. Fletcher, Jr., of Kaplan, Louisiana, the center of the rich rice fields, took a big gamble and disregarded the pessimistic warnings of a great number of his friends and advisers and planted a rice field in Hancock County on the Texas Flat Road.

He firmly believed that rice could be grown here and after making soil tests, he was convinced to the nth degree. So, acting against the advice of many old time rice growers and many agricultural leaders of the South, he moved his stock and barrel to the almost virgin rice territory of Hancock County.

There were a great number of barriers to be hurdled, but Fletcher had the determination to take these in his stride. First and foremost, the rice allotment for an individual in any one county is based on five per cent of the total acreage of rice being grown in the county. According to these figures, this farming pioneer could only plant two acres of rice.

He had over 600 acres of land and was told that he could only plant two acres of rice. This in itself would have been enough to discourage a man of lesser desire, but not Luther Fletcher.

With the aid of the Hancock County Agricultural Officials, Mr. Fletcher went to bat to gain a larger allotment from a state level.

In this he succeeded, and was given a 127 acre grant. After accomplishing this important phase of his work, Fletcher, operating all of the heavy equipment and accompanied by one man began clearing the fields and planting the rice.

The work was hard and the hours were long. But, Luther Fletcher worked on and on, because he believed, without a doubt, that here was the location in which he could succeed in the rice industry.

All of his actions were guided toward one goal, carrying out his convictions.

When Fletcher wasn't planting rice and caring for his land, he was prepping for the coming of his family from Kaplan. In his spare time, he started building a house and in a little over a month, Mrs. Fletcher and the four Fletcher children moved into their new home.

After the planting of the rice, Fletcher took other part time jobs in order to supplement his earnings while waiting for the harvest.

But, as always, he was watching over his rice as a mother watches over a newborn child. For, this rice field was his baby.

His whole future depended on its success. All of his energy and thought had gone into the formation of the field. All of his faith and hopes were guided toward one purpose, on his investment in this gamble.

And now that harvesting time is just around the corner, it appears that Fletcher was not wrong. A few more days will bring forth the proof of his convictions.

It seems that all his work and ideas have not gone for vain.

For now, he has a beautiful field of rice which measures approximately four feet in height, and he is more confident than ever that his rice will be better and will bring a bigger return per acre than that grown in Southwest Louisiana, the heart of the rice industry of the United States.

In a soft voice which belies his French ancestry, Luther Fletcher said, "When I decided to move to Hancock County, everybody told me that I was making a mistake. They told me the land down here would not hold water. They told me many other things about this land, but it was good soil for rice. Since I began to clear my fields, I am right.

I had a few official difficulties at first, but these were overcome. When they told me I could only farm two acres of rice, we went to the A. S. C., who changed the ruling and allotted me 127 acres for this county on an experimental basis.

And also, if I were successful, it may open the door to another agricultural enterprise in Hancock County."

The men who know rice also share the belief of Fletcher concerning the quantity of his field. Several of the Louisiana growers have asked that he sell them his rice for seed.

Another source of amazement not only to Mr. Fletcher, but to all of those who have seen his rice is the cleanliness of his fields. They are almost completely free of grass of any type.

According to Fletcher, his rice would bring about one dollar per barrel above the market premium, and it should bring about 20 barrels to the acre.

This is outstanding when you realize that in the Southwest Louisiana the rice growers are only averaging 14 and 15 barrels per acre.

Fletcher has all of his harvesting equipment ready for action. His self-propelled combining machine will make it possible for him to cut the rice and pick it up by himself.

From there, he will leave it for two weeks to dry by electric heat. The moisture content has to be 12 per cent before it is ready for the wholesale market.

Where did this man, who came here with only his beliefs and, who now has taken the first step toward growing rice on this maiden land, learn so much about rice? "Well," he said, "down home, I helped my father farm and I have handled a rice field as big as 1200 acres before."

He worked as a mechanic for two years to learn the maintenance of the big machinery.

He likes it here and plans to plant the rest of his acres in white dutch clover. Yes, this gentleman knows his beans about farming.

Or, should we say, his rice. Well anyway, while riding high on the crest of a successful venture, he should be able to eat plenty of beans and rice in future years.

Mississippi, has just purchased the young Guernsey sire, Sandolan Darling's Corona, from S. Sanford Levy, Bay St. Louis, according to the American Guernsey Cattle Club.

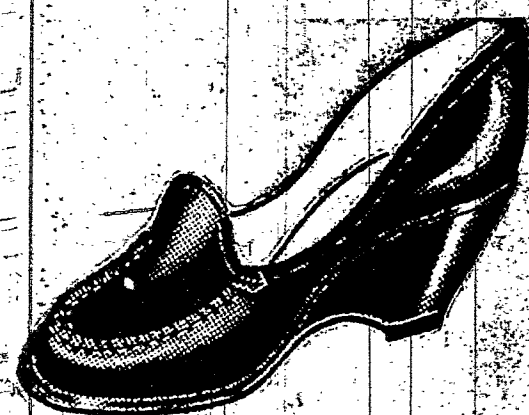

This young bull is out of the cow, Sandolan Honor's Darling, and is sired by Sandolan Prince Regent.

—Mrs. D. W. North, Jr., and new daughter, Beatrice Ann, returned home from Gulfport Memorial Hospital Wednesday of last week.

—Miss Beatrice Chinche, who was member of Chaffy Hospital's School of Nursing, will assume her duties as a member of the local hospital staff on October 15.

STATE ATTRACTS 123 INDUSTRIES, EXPANSIONS, UPS TOURIST INCOME

A total of 123 new and expanded manufacturing plants employing 14,719 persons have been developed in Mississippi during the past two years; the Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial Board reports in its biennial message to the incoming session of the legislature.

The Board's two-year report also shows that the state's tourist business has climbed at the rate of better than $10,000,000 a year, or from $263,082,834 in 1952 to $285,776,941 in 1954.

The section of the report covering industrial development shows that 74 new plants were established during the two years, while 49 existing plants underwent expansions. A total of 33 of the new plants and expansions were financed under provisions of the balance signature with industry act, while the balance were built with private capital.

The Board estimates that the state's manufacturing payrolls were increased by $36,790,000.

Diversified Industry

The new additions listed by the Board in its report represent a wide variety of manufacturers, including apparel, textile, wood-working and furniture, metal fabricating, appliance, leather, chemicals, petroleum refining and a number of food products.

Mississippi's interest in securing new industries is reflected in vote tabulations for the 32 industries financed under the BAWI act. People in communities which followed the BAWI route voted by a margin of 22 to 1, approving a total of $5,495,490 in bonds to acquire sites and construct buildings for lease to responsible manufacturers.

Chassis accompanying the report show that per capita income, manufacturing payrolls and new tax collections all have risen during the period, while the farm income dropped considerably. Despite the fact that the past two years was considered a lean period for the state's industry, the development and diversification of agriculture. They include plants for meat packing, dairy processing, food products and other food processing. Numerous grain and seed processing units, including grain elevators, were established but not included in the tabulation of manufacturing plants.

A Small Business Development Council, sponsored jointly by the A. & I. Board and the Mississippi Federation of Business and Professional Women's Club, held numerous clinics during the period to aid Mississippians with ideas which might be converted into small businesses.

Industrial contact men of the Board, backed by a national program of industrial advertising and direct mail, have made personal visits to the home offices of 776 manufacturing companies during the period covered in the report. During the period from July 1, 1954, to September 1, 1955, the board sent 15,642 letters to manufacturers inviting them to consider Mississippi as a location for branch plants.

Replies were received from 1324 companies, of which 508 firms indicated they would like to talk with an A. & I. Board representative.

Six important research studies were made during the period in a campaign designed to attract specific types of industry for which the state is well suited. These studies showed that Mississippi is especially well adapted for the apparel industry, the chemical industry, metal fabricating, and pulp processing. Surveys also were made of Mississippi's assets, including the physical resources for the chemical industry.

The Board's industrial advertising program during the period was the most intensive in the history of the state. It included a grant to the state's largest business and industry association to conduct a series of industrial Travel Promotion Mississippi's efforts to get its share of the estimated $10,000,000,000 spent on pleasure travel in the nation each year resulted in an increased tourist business for the state of $22,694,057 for the two-year period.

A total of 106,750 tourist inquiries were received by the Board's Travel Department during the biennium as a result of travel advertising in national magazines and newspapers, and other promotions.

To answer these inquiries intelligently, the department utilized various pieces of literature, including a new full-color general folder showing all scenic attractions and recreational facilities.

In an effort to reach additional millions of tourist minded Americans, the Board sponsored the state's first motion picture which will cover both the industrial and tourist opportunities. This picture is scheduled for completion within the next few months and will be distributed on a nation-wide basis.

In addition, the Travel Department sponsored exhibits at national travel shows, and was represented through exhibits and personnel at numerous national conventions.

The annual state-wide "Hospitality Month" program, designed to encourage local tourist promotion activities, has been actively participated in by more than 200 communities. Five Mississippi communities participating in this program were honored with national awards in the National Cleanest Town Contest.

The annual "Miss Hospitality" contest alone attracted 115 entries, all of whom represented their hometowns as the official goodwill ambassadors.

The activities of the A. & I. Board have been widely publicized through the state's largest business and industry association to conduct a series of industrial

Dr. Emmett Irwin Listed Among Twenty New Tree Farmers In State

Philadelphia (Special)—Five women owners of timber land have helped push Mississippi's Tree Farms to 714. The new total is exceeded only by Texas, 742 among the 38 states of the American Tree Farm System, according to Dick Allen, chairman, Mississippi Tree Farm Committee.

The women, who hold 1,740 acre of scientifically-managed woodland among them, were joined by 20 men owners of other tracts in becoming certified tree farmers, Mr. Allen said. Altogether, they brought 7,472 forest acres in 20 different counties into the Mississippi land raising its acres total to 1,661,657.

"The new members illustrate the variety of occupations and interests true to tree farmers in our state, but they are all in practicing good forestry on their lands," Mr. Allen pointed out. Industrial acreage, for example, is being cleared for woodlands, and investment holdings are among the newly certified. The 15 new tree farmers are: three physicians, two of the women live in Meridian, two in Brookhaven, the fifth in Akron, Ohio.

Since January 1, 198 tree farmers have gained the right to put up the official green and white sign in Mississippi. Nationally, Tree Farms now total 7,076 containing nearly 37 million wooded areas.

Other Mississippians interested in having timber property inspected for possible Tree Farm status should address Dick Allen, chairman, Mississippi Farm Tree Committee, c/o A. DeDeese Lumber Co., Philadelphia. Membership costs nothing. Prospective tree farmers must protect their woods against fire, practice other good forestry measures, and grow their trees for commercial use.

Mississippi To Dedicate New University Medical Center, Oct. 24

Mississippi is ready to take another important step toward self-sufficiency.

A state which has for years depended on four-year medical schools in her sister states to turn out doctors for Mississippi, will dedicate her own new $9,000,000 University Medical Center in Jackson on October 24th.

Completion of the magnificent plant on North State St., gives Mississippi a four-year school of medicine and a modern hospital surpassed by none in the nation.

The Center, one of the final links in the long war against disease, will not only train doctors, nurses, and technicians, but will provide a fountain head for research, education, disease prevention and patient care.

Promptly at 3:00 p. m., on Monday, Oct. 24, the Old Miss ending of the formal dedication ceremony.

Dr. H. M. Ivy of Meridian, president of the board of trustees of State Institutions of Higher Learning, will preside and Chancellor J. D. Williams will welcome the audience.

Gov. Hugh White, whose interest, wisdom and keen business sense guided construction of the Center, will make the principal address. Invited honor guests include former

County Agent Notes

Grass waterways can help save your soil from washing away.

During heavy rains, more water falls on nearly all crop land than can be held by the best crop rotations, contour farming or even the best terraces.

This water will run off through some kind of waterway. Unless you provide a safe waterway, it will probably cut a gully.

Any grass waterway that is used to carry extra water take care of all rains. The grass cover should be dense. It must be kept in good condition from year to year.

When carefully made and planned and managed, grass waterways will pay their way with increased farm income. Many are used as hay fields, some produce grass or legume seed, and all can be used for grazing at some time during the year, depending on the kind of grasses or legumes used.

For details on building such a grass waterway on your farm, see your county agent.

COTTON DEFOLIATION
Due to late maturing cotton it may be wise this year to hasten opening of the cotton bolls.

Defoliation helps prevent losses from boll rot, provides longer picking days due to more dew-free bolls, increases machine picking efficiency, and hand pickers are more attracted to fields that are free from leaves.

Dust defoliates appear to be the most effective in Mississippi. Calcium cyanamide, applied at 25 to 35 pounds per acre should give satisfactory results.

Remember, bolls should be sufficiently mature so that yields will not be cut from defoliation. General 50 percent of the bolls should be open before defoliating.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Remember National Fire prevention week is October 9-15. It is a good time for you to do something about the fire hazards on your farm and in your home.

Make a check to see just how many fire hazards you can find and eliminate during this week. Watch out particularly for electrical faults, which last year accounted for more than 21 percent of all farm fires.

It is a good time too, to make sure that your woods and pastures are safer from wildfire. Cut fire lane between your and public roads, other woods and around barns and stacked hay.

If fire destroys your stacked hay, and the grass on which you are depending for a large part of the early winter feed, it can hurt in the pocket book.

This year, woods fires are likely to be especially hazardous due to the great amount of grass in fields, on roadsides and pastures. Take extra precautions to prevent fire from getting in your land.

Gasoline, kerosene, and cleaning fluids improperly used often turn a peaceful farm into a holocaust of flame, according to Howard F. Simmons, County Extension Agent. Flammable liquids, carelessly handled, are among the top causes of farm fires. Store and handle them the safe way advised, Howard F. Simmons, County Extension Agent. Remember the slogan for Fire Prevention Week: "Don't Give Fire a Place to Start."

An underground tank is the safest place to store gasoline and kerosene. If this is impossible, locate containers at least 40 feet from buildings. Containers must be metal and free from leaks. Small quantities are more safely stored than large, and a well-labeled safety can should always be used to draw off and handle the amounts necessary for immediate use.

Always keep these fluids away from flame and heat. Flammable cleaning solvents should be avoided, but when necessary should be kept in metal-covered containers, and used out-of-doors or in a well-ventilated room. Non-flammable solvents are fire safe but should be used where the vapors cannot be inhaled.

Get a new street quickly and economically with durable, low-cost SOIL-CEMENT

A clean, attractive, smooth-riding street in front of your house increases the value of your property. A dusty, bumpy potholed street is unsightly and unsafe. It is a nuisance to drivers who use it and to property owners who live on it. The constant patching and repairing of such a street is a waste of time, temper and taxes.

If your street is worn-out and run down, it can be converted into an all-weather pavement quickly and economically. Just ask your city officials to pave it with soil-cement. Soil-cement is a combination of soil or granular material usually on the street and portland cement and water. Mixed and compacted, these elements form a rigid, durable base. A bituminous surface completes the pavement.

Soil-cement is economical. Low in first cost, it delivers years of dependable service with a minimum of maintenance.

Soil-cement paving is fast. An experienced crew can pave your entire street in a single day—with practically no inconvenience to you.

Act now to pave your rough, worn-out street. Insist on soil-cement. It's today's best low-cost-pavement value for residential streets.

Backfire

A candidate for Sheriff and Tax Collector of our county in the recent run-off was defeated 221 votes out of 5557 votes cast in the 25 precincts of the county. He filed a petition alleging fraud and irregularities and asked for a mandamus to examine the contents of all 25 ballot boxes in the county.

He and two of his associates spent an entire week in 18 of the boxes, but it is a strange thing that he failed to examine the contents of the 7 of the 9 boxes in which he led, after he had requested authority to search all 25 boxes.

It was interesting to note he and his associates spent a majority of their time checking the handwriting, or signature on the voters' list when he voted and on absentee ballots—only to realize late in the week that until January 26, 1955, a registrant was not required to read and write to be able to vote!

It was further interesting to note that the contestant thoroughly scrutinized each absentee vote in the 18 boxes in which they checked—but when the tabulation was made the contestant actually received more absentee votes than did the winner!

Elections are held by the election managers and not by the candidates and when fraud and irregularities are charged it is a charge against the managers and not the candidate. It is very hard for an election manager to escape a few minor irregularities in the holding of a county and state-wide election, especially since they are not trained in the election laws, but as a whole, most of them try to be honest and efficient. For a defeated candidate to cry "fraud and irregularities" without any basis therefor, is a rather serious charge against 75 election managers of the county. It is a charge we feel is unjustified. At least, the contestant must feel that the managers were not guilty of such in any of the 7 boxes in which he LED since he did not check those boxes!

We have seen the time, and we may see it here, where such charges sometime back-fire, and a party who makes such a charge might find his own ardent and strong workers the ones who overstepped the law and have to suffer the consequences.

We have decided that politics is like any other game and should be played that way. When you lose, you should be a good loser; especially when you lost by 221 votes!

Cussin' the referee will not change the score.

Drive with care . . . EVERYWHERE!

Great Features back up Chevrolet Performance: Anti-Dive Braking—Ball-Race Steering—Out-rigger Rear Springs—Body by Fisher—12-Volt Electrical System—Nine Engine-Drive Choices.

Every checkered flag signals a Chevrolet victory in official 1955 stock car competition—not only against its own field high-priced cars, too!

Let's translate these victories into your kind of driving. You've got to have faster acceleration to win on the tracks. And that means safer passing on the highways. You've got to have better springing and suspension. For you: safer and happier motoring. You've got to have big, fast-acting brakes and easy, accurate steering. More things that make your driving safer! Come in and drive a Chevrolet yourself.

The safer car wins . . .
and Chevrolet's
